Vail, Colorado – Renowned for its family-friendly atmosphere and great location, the Antlers at Vail hotel offers a great value for families this winter with a lodging/lift ticket package. The Antlers' “Value Vail” promotion runs from January 5 through 31, 2008, and offers a 20 percent discount on a five-night, five-day deal. Rates start at just $701 per person for 2 adults and 2 children in a one-bedroom-plus-bunkroom condo – including 4-day lift tickets for all four people.

From the Antlers it's just a two-minute walk to the Vail Gondola, which whisks skiers to the top of the mountain in a mere eight minutes. At the top, Eagle's Nest boasts a day-and-night family entertainment area called Adventure Ridge, with night skiing and snowboarding (on a new snowboard park and half-pipe), sledding, tubing, ice skating and dining.

The Antlers at Vail offers condominiums ranging from studio suites up to four bedrooms. Families appreciate the fully-equipped kitchens, fireplaces, outdoor balconies and free Internet access. Every room has plenty of space to spread out and all the comforts of home, and the property includes a new $2 million heated outdoor pool, a fitness room, two hot tubs, saunas and a heated parking garage.

Eco-conscious families will appreciate Vail's commitment to sustainability; Vail Mountain is one of just 28 ski areas that offsets 100 percent of its energy use with renewable energy. The Antlers at Vail is also proud to be a Green Star rated business; Green Star (www.greenstarinc.org) is a voluntary national program that assists businesses in taking a hands-on role in caring for the environment.
